PROBLEM STATEMENT!

On average, an architect works on three different projects simultaneously. And at times, comms with clients could be more challenging than the work itself.

Tile setters, electricians, plumbers, carpenters... Working with multiple stakeholders is not easy. Yet clients demand daily updates on progress.

And surprisingly(!) smaller projects are not less demanding.

When communications are not handled in an organized manner, burnouts are inevitable due to never-ending projects.

SOLUTION - BuildPro

A complete white label solution with your branding.

BuildPro is a must have productivity tool for all architects, designers and builders. It comes with two mobile apps and one web app.

Client App

Available on Android and iOS

Office App

Available on Android and iOS

Admin Portal

Browser based web app portal for operations

For only $1,000 you can streamline all your client comms and project management via your own branded app.

BuildPro CLIENT APP

Services

Clients can view all the services offered and raise a quotation request.

Below information is collected for you to analyze the scope of work:

Project:

- type
- size/area
- exact location
- requirements
- budget

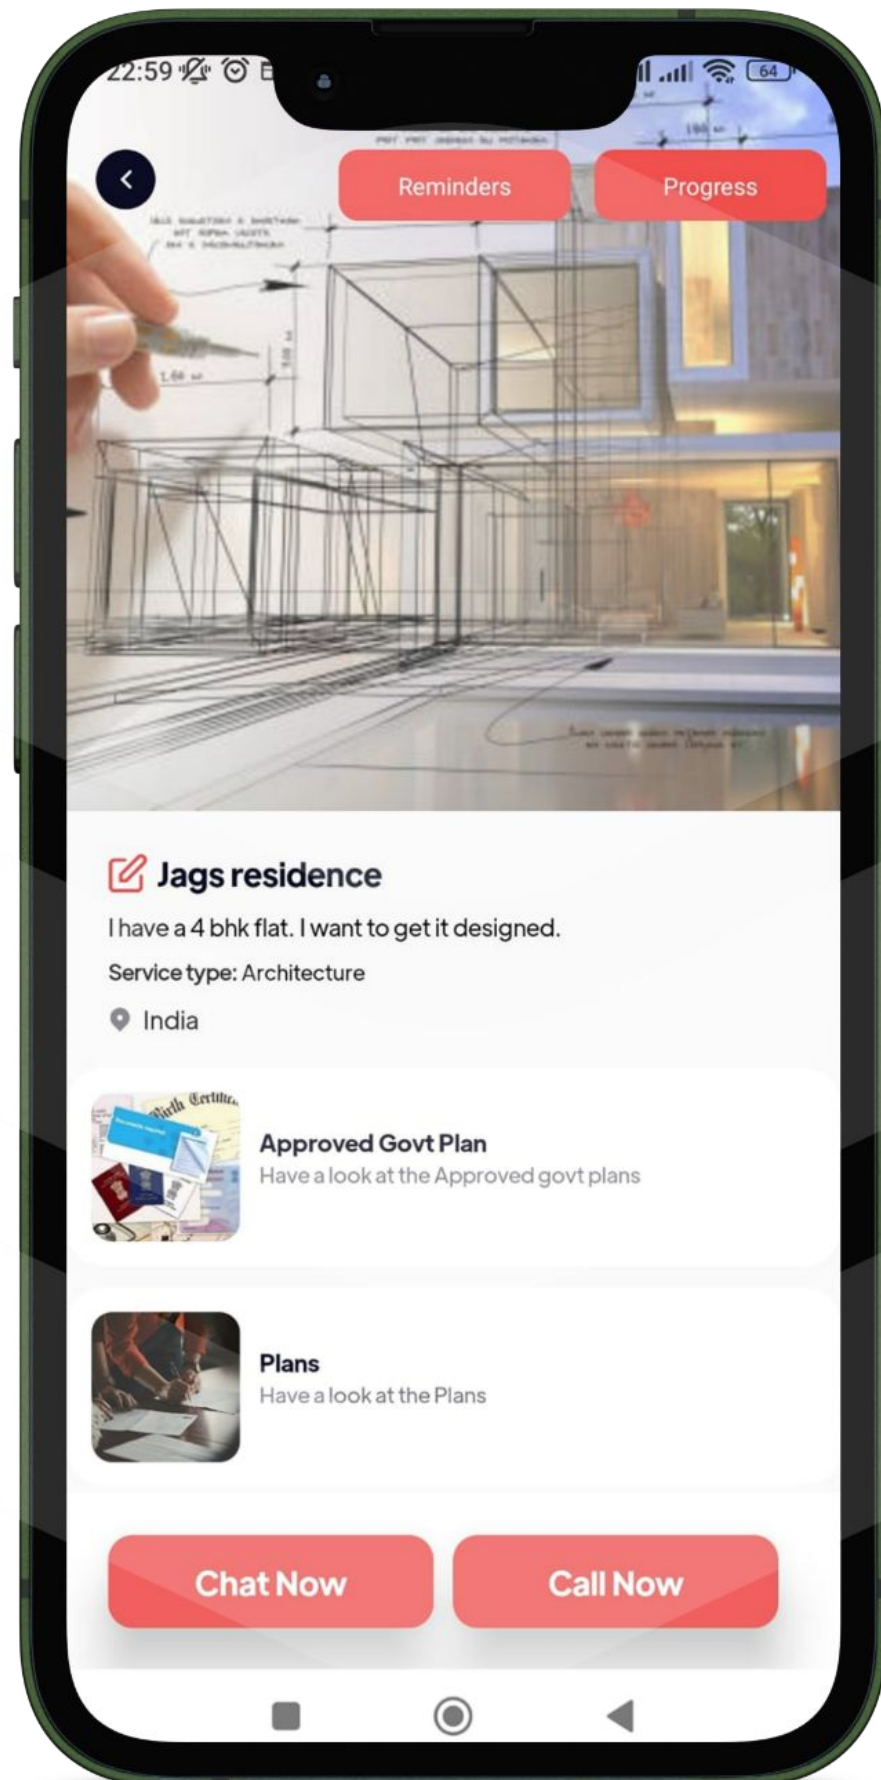

95 % of the referrals

come from the clients who got the lowest price.

trust your work ethic.

And trust could only be established in time through smooth communication.

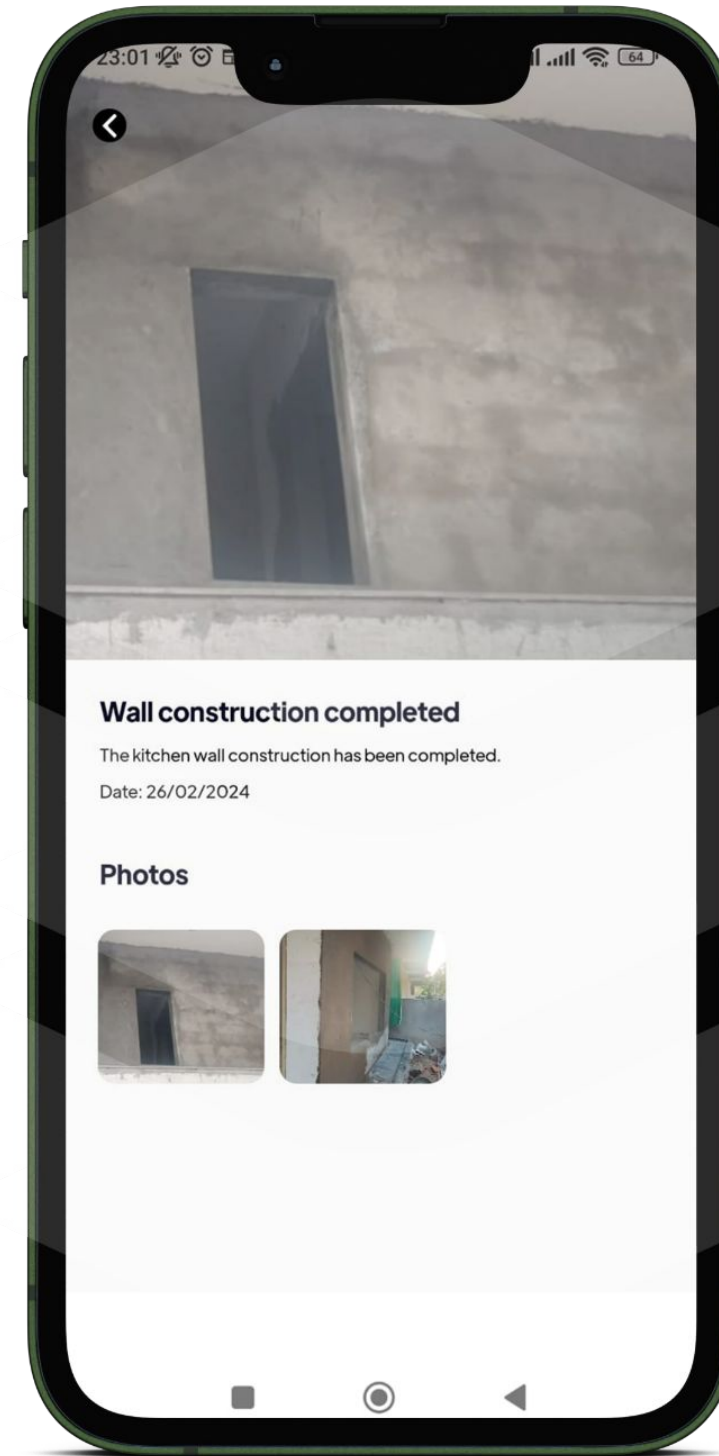

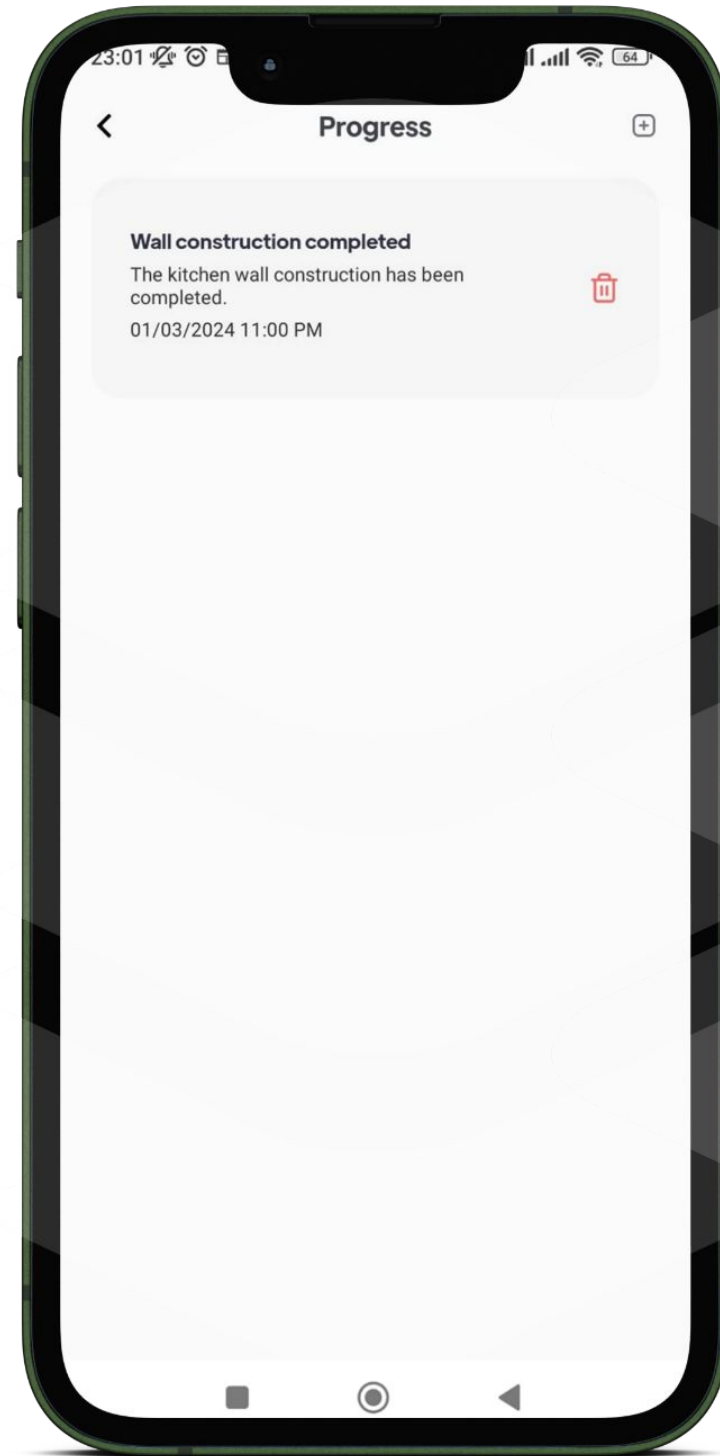

Notifications

Notifications enable ultimate clarity on what is happening in the project.

Everyone involved in the project (E.g. architects, designers, contractors...) can upload media and files to mark progress.

For example, an employee from the construction site can provide status update with a description and supporting images which will increase the trust and confidence with the client.

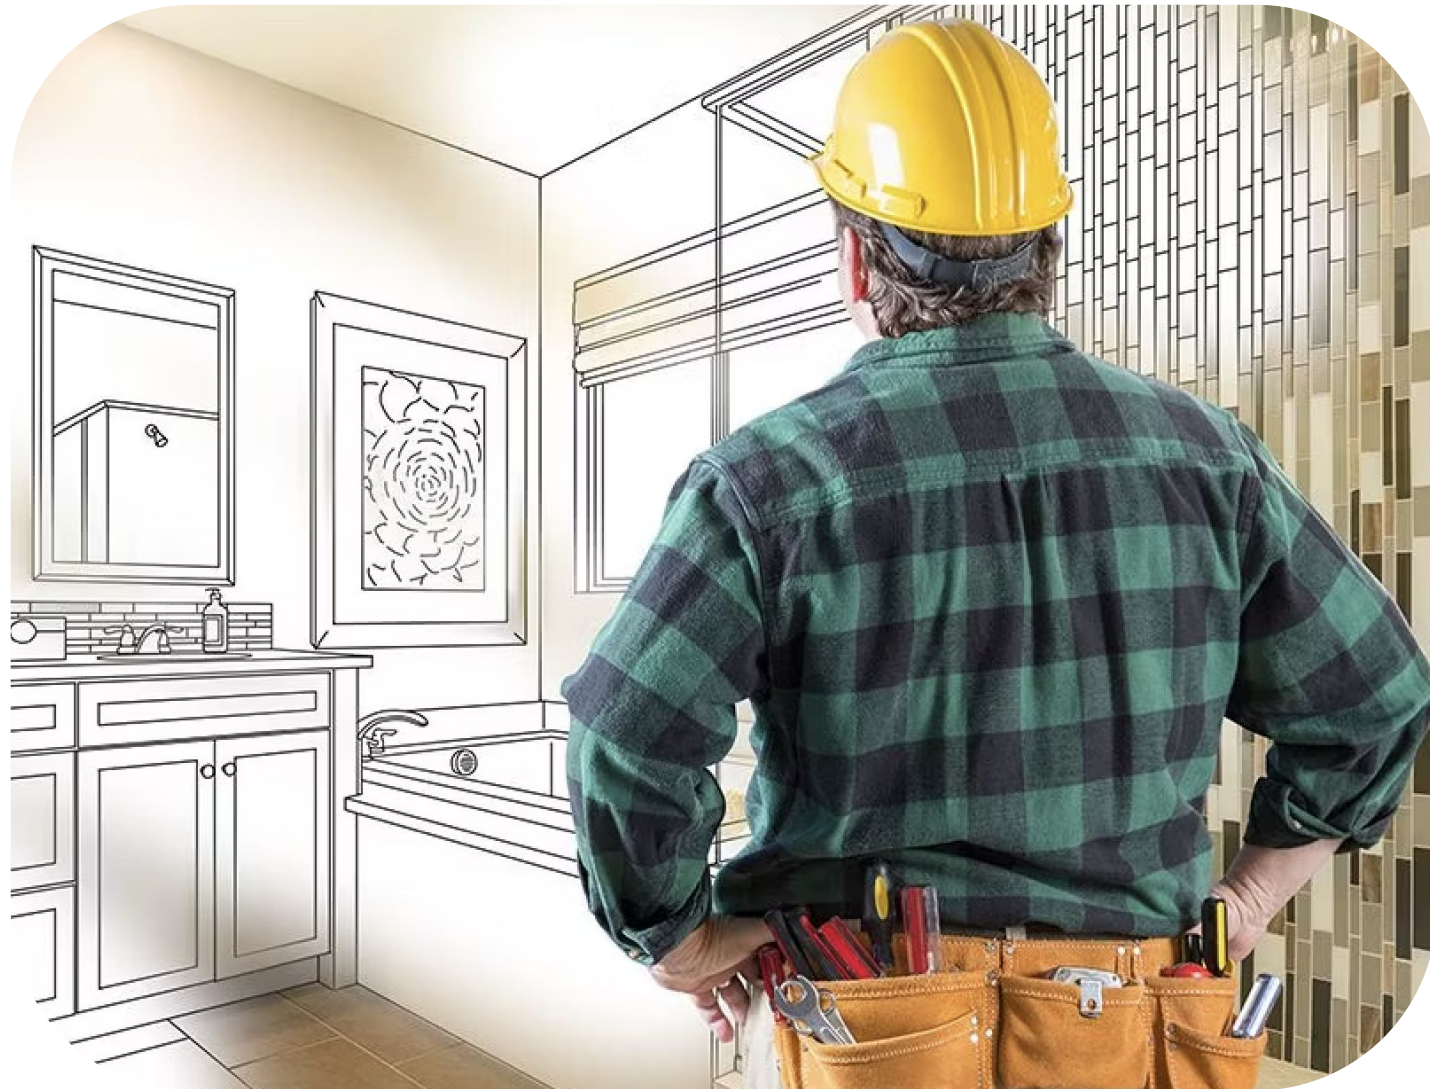

This helps clients to track everything at one place as well as keeping all stakeholders in sync.

Reminders

Reminders help both architects and clients to track payment schedules, site visits, material updates and any other milestone agreements.

*“Construction will always be needed.
You will always need to renovate projects.” — Wayne Messam*

Majority of people postpone their construction needs not because they don't have enough budget for it but because they don't have time or means to be on site to follow up progress.

BuildPro closes the gap. Time or distance is not an issue!

BuildPro users sign clients from different cities as well as different countries, time zones.

It's all about transparency, trust and efficient communication.

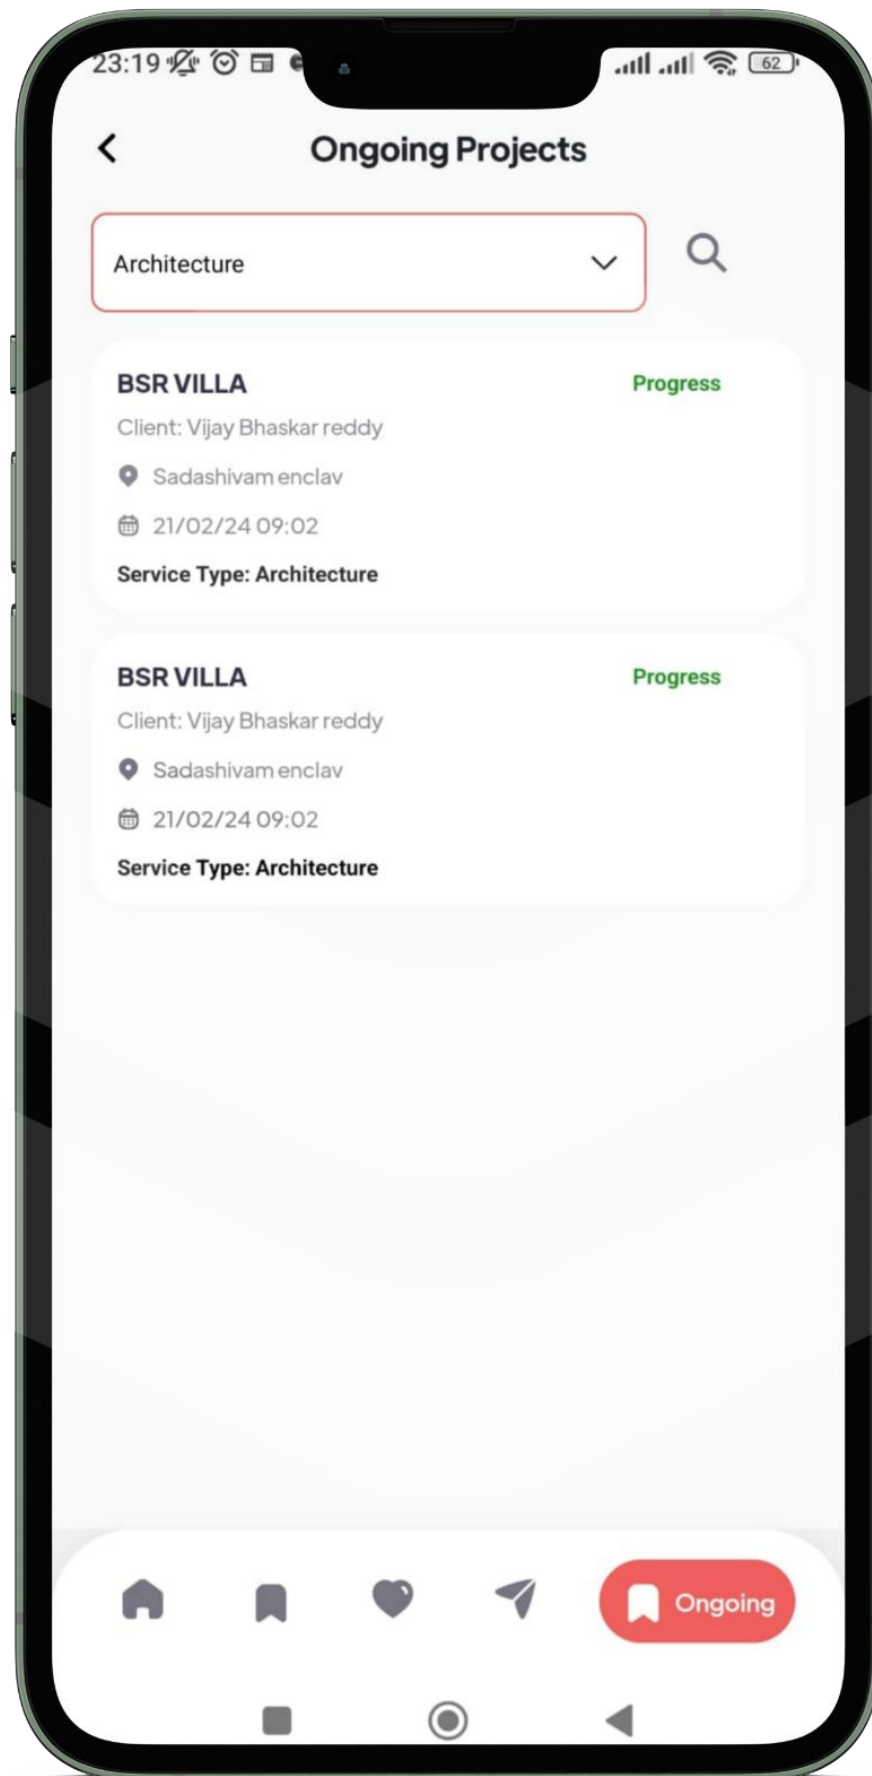

Appointment Booking and Chat

BuildPro supports project specific chats with text and media as well as Google Meet for video calls.

Clients can have a quick chat and book a call with the lead architect or any other stakeholder directly for any question in mind.

BuildPro OFFICE APP
